

The Humanities and Cognitive Sciences High School Summer Institute

Purpose

The Summer Institute provides a critical thinking forum for rising high school students to explore the big questions at the intersection of the humanities and cognitive sciences. Through daily lectures, interactive discussions, research exploration, and collaborative activities with OSU students and faculty across campus, students will learn central aspects of how this interdisciplinary study can work together to help us understand how we imagine, artistically create, and materially transform the world in which we live.

Impact

The program allows participants the unique opportunity to establish professional relationships with world-renowned professors at The Ohio State University, creating greater opportunities in institutions of higher education.

The program provides participants with a first-hand impression of the OSU college experience, and allows them to learn what it is like to study at a dynamic college campus.

Jointly sponsored by CCBS, the Office of Diversity & Inclusion, and University Libraries, the Institute ensures the inclusion of traditionally underrepresented communities by awarding scholarships to 45% of students enrolled.
