

Opportunities and Resources Helping Educators Globalize Curriculum

Purpose

Through lectures, discussion, materials, online modules, resources, lesson plans, and other methods, teachers are given tools about East Asian history, culture, literature, and current affairs issues to help globalize their curriculum.

Impact

2017 Summer Global Teacher Seminar—“Human Rights in a Global Perspective: Mass Atrocities and State-Sponsored Violence” will be held June 5-9, 2017 at OSU for middle and high school social studies teachers.

Korea Workshop 2017 — “Bringing Korea in the Classroom: A Workshop for Ohio Teachers” will be held June 8-9, 2017 at OSU for middle and high school social studies teachers.

NCTA Ohio Teacher Seminar—National Consortium for Teaching about Asia (NCTA-Ohio) will be held June 12–16, 2017 at OSU with a focus on East Asian history, literature, culture, and more for middle and high school teachers.

Ohio State Colleges/Units Involved

East Asian Studies Center
Center for African Studies
Center for Latin American Studies
Center for Slavic and East European Studies
Middle East Studies Center
Institute for Chinese Studies
Institute for Japanese Studies
Institute for Korea Studies
Office of International Affairs
College of Arts & Sciences
Department of East Asian Languages and Literatures

Community Partners Involved

Freeman Foundation
Indiana University
Korea Foundation
Granville High School
U.S. Department of Education Title VI
Columbus State Community College
Japan Foundation Center for Global Partnership

Resources available:

Discovery Boxes with hands-on materials to teach about China, Japan and Korea in the classroom.

Online Modules—East Asia: videos about Chinese, Japanese and Korean history developed in partnership with Columbus State Community College.

Online modules—Japan: virtual Japan Discovery Boxes, “Journey along the Tōkaidō,” and “Discovering Japanese Literature”

To get involved, contact:

Janet Stucky Smith
Assistant Director of Outreach
East Asian Studies Center
stucky.7@osu.edu
<http://easc.osu.edu/cgp>

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY